HOW NIGERIAN SCHOOL LEADERS ELIMINATE BROADSHEET FATIGUE & RECOVER 98% OF TUITION FEES

A proven operational framework to automate Continuous Assessment tallying, protect school revenue from fake paper tellers, and deliver prestigious terminal dossiers in 10 seconds.

The Hidden Crisis in Nigerian Private Schools Every Term

Running a great school should be about educational excellence. Instead, school leadership is trapped in manual chaos.

1. External Problem: Paper Chaos

Teachers spend 3 exhausting weeks after exams manually tallying continuous assessment scores into red notebooks. Arithmetic mistakes trigger furious parent complaints in the Principal's office.

2. Internal Problem: Anxiety & Debt

Every examination week brings the agonizing ritual of chasing unpaid fees at the gate. School owners face cash flow panic while bursars struggle with fake bank teller slips and unverified transfers.

3. The Philosophical Injustice

Educators were hired to shape young minds — not to spend 40% of their working hours acting as debt collectors, manual accountants, and calculator operators.

The Hard Reality: Over 25% to 35% of school tuition remains uncollected at the start of examinations in private schools relying on manual accounting and paper tellers.*
